

Job opening: Program Coördinator

“Streaming electronic, urban & cultural frequencies from a shipping container in Nijmegen.”

Our program

The Open Source Radio program is interdisciplinary, accessible, diverse and high quality. Open Source Radio is rooted locally, but we try to look beyond the borders of our own city. We always strive to find the right balance between local artists, creators, new talent and international artists, labels, collectives, other partners and theme days.

Diversity and inclusion, innovation and (social) sustainability are part of our core values that must be guaranteed within the whole organization. Electronic Music, Hiphop and youth culture have a central role within our program.

Program Coordinator

The Program Coordinator is responsible for:

- Creating a high quality program, together with the head of program and a team of curator;
- Managing a team of curators;
- Discovering new (local) talent;
- Confirming artists & sending out call sheets;
- Evaluating the program together with the program team;
- Making sure the core values from Open Source Radio are being represented in our program.

We are looking for someone who:

- Loves music – especially electronic music and hip hop;
- Has a keen eye for (local) talent;
- Lives in or nearby Nijmegen;
- Deals with the themes diversity and inclusion and feels motivated to involve these themes within the OSR program;
- Has a good balance between working independently and working in a team environment;
- Is eager to discover and learn, and has a critical and forward looking eye.
- Knows how to create and maintain structure and balance.

What do we offer?

- We have a dynamic, passionate and fast-growing organization offers a lot of creative freedom and the opportunity to develop yourself as a professional in the music industry;
- The possibility to build a international and diverse network within the creative sector;
- A wide community with multiple activities and advantages such as discounts, guestlists for events and monthly hangouts.
- A 'the sky's the limit' mentality: Open Source Radio has a horizontal organizational structure in which every good idea is taken into consideration;
- You can develop yourself musically: our studio is available for use whenever you want.

Availability and allowance:

You will start from the second week of January 2023.

There's work for a maximum of 8 hours per week. There's a voluntary allowance available for €150,- per month or €1.800,- per year, as Open Source Radio is a non-profit organisation mainly funded by subsidies.

Wednesdays are our main days, thus it would be great if you are available for meetings between 10:00 and 12:00. You can work from home, but we also have a working place in Nijmegen and come together at least once a month.

How to apply

You can send your motivation with a resume to anna@opensourceradio.nl with the subject line 'Job Opening: Program Coordinator' before December 20th 2022. We will let you know if you're invited for an interview before the end of the year

The interviews will take place in the first week of January.
